

What does QAA offer for students?

From events and networking, to guidance, resources and opportunities to steer our work – QAA Membership has student engagement running through all that we do.

Events and Networking

Quality Matters Conference

QAA's annual student engagement conference provides insight into student engagement in quality assurance and enhancement. It presents an opportunity for those passionate about student engagement to come together for practice sharing, guidance and discussion.

Student Quality Network

2 March, 9 May 2023

The Network provides an opportunity for student engagement practitioners to step away from their day-to-day role, meet like-minded colleagues, share practice, discuss challenges and hear from QAA.

Student Engagement mail

Join our mailing list to be the first to hear about activities, projects and key information related to student engagement in quality practice across the UK.

QAA Membership Calendar 2022-23

If you would like to find out more about the Student Engagement Toolkit, dynamic approaches to teaching, learning and assessment or the importance of academic integrity, there are many events within our calendar that you may wish to attend.

Resources

Membership Resources: Student Engagement

Quality Code Advice and Guidance: Student Engagement

What is Credit? A guide for students

This resource has been produced to help students understand credit better and equip them with the knowledge to have meaningful conversations about credit, what it is and what it means for them.

Unpacking Assessments

A collection of interactive resources including a student guide and series of videos that aim to help students understand assessment terminology and approach assessments effectively.

What is education for sustainable development?

A collection of resources including a video, 19 Case Studies and the Education for Sustainable Development Guidance.

These resources can be used as an introduction to ESD and to help students ensure sustainability is firmly on the agenda at their institution.

Talking about quality. Supporting student discussions on quality, standards and value for money

This resource, produced with and for our members, is aimed at helping students to think and talk about the quality of their learning experience with each other and with their institutions.

Student Engagement Toolkit: Planning an Enhancement Activity

- to provide structure for planning enhancement activities and projects
- to build a shared understanding of the language and reference points for quality and standards
- to be used for training and support of student representatives

Student membership of QAA Committees and Advisory Groups

There are many ways you can get directly involved in our work:

Students on the QAA Board and Committees.

We have two students on the Board who also serve as the co-chairs of our Student Strategic Advisory Committee \(SSAC\). SSAC meetings are attended by QAA's Chief Executive and other members of the QAA Board. They have shaped national student-centred projects with NUS, provided valuable input to UK quality reference points and influenced QAA's overall strategy.

Students are members of QAA advisory and working groups.

Students have been involved on working groups informing our work on Academic Integrity; External Examining; Subject Benchmark Statements and Characteristics Statements (to name just a few).

Keep in touch

We love hearing from you!
So please do get in contact with ideas, comments, suggestions and questions.

We advertise all of our opportunities via our website and social media. You can contact us at studentengagement@qaa.ac.uk should you wish to find out further details or register your interest to help inform our work.
