

Is it making the grade?

Are you aware that Edinburgh Napier has an obligation to provide constructive, appropriate and timely academic feedback? What you can expect from staff is outlined in the Student Charter.

Academic staff will:

- Provide formal coursework feedback within 3 working weeks of formal assessment deadlines.
- Tell you in advance if they cannot meet this.

Issues with academic feedback can be raised with your Programme Rep for discussion at SSLCs.

Coursework feedback is an extremely important factor in enhancing and maintaining academic excellence at Edinburgh Napier. Being proactive as a student in the feedback process will help you achieve your potential.

The use of formal and informal feedback can enable you to:

- Develop your learning
- Self-assess and improve your future performance
- Develop reflective skills for both self and peer evaluation
- Take part in progress reviews and act on the feedback provided to you
- Complete course and module questionnaires e.g. the National Student Survey (NSS)

NSA continues to work with the University to further improve feedback.
